

Editorial Policy

Main principles concerning the editorial policy of the Journal of Entrepreneurship and Innovation Management-JEIM are as follows:

- 1. The language of manuscripts which are sent to the JEIM should be in English or Turkish.
- 2. English abstracts of the manuscripts written in Turkish should also be published.
- 3. Manuscripts submitted to the JEIM should not have been published or submitted for publication elsewhere.
- 4. Editor will be responsible for the execution of scientific processes of the journal.
- 5. Editorial Board consisting of notable academicians who are specialists in their field has been established in accordance with the purpose of the journal.
- 6. Level of contribution of the manuscripts, which are sent to the journal, to the specialty field of the journal will be questioned at the outset. In this respect, manuscripts that are cognitively and theoretically inadequate will be returned to the author or authors by submitting a reason after conferring on the editor and, when necessary, one or two members of the consultancy board without applying refereeing process.
- 7. Qualitative and quantitative applications will be treated equally in field researches. At this point, it will be considered whether application and analysis methods are in conformity with the methodological infrastructure and the subject; they are used properly and pertinently and they actually contribute to the relevant field.
- 8. Manuscripts sent to the journal will be submitted to two referees in relation with the topics of the manuscripts after the examination of the editor and, when necessary, conferring on one or two members of the Editorial Board. Evaluation of the manuscripts will be concluded according to the results of the reviews of the referees.
- 9. Publisher will be responsible for the delivery of the journal issues to the central libraries of the universities in Turkey.
- 10. Publisher will be responsible for the design of the cover and inner pages, publishing, subscription processes and sales and distribution processes of the journal.
- 11. Editor and Publisher may decide on thematic publishing of some issues in case they consider it necessary.

12. Editor and Publisher may decide to carry out seminars, symposiums and panel organizations relevant to the scope of the journal.

13. Steps will be taken for English abstracts of the manuscripts published in the journal to be searched in the relevant international indexes in the medium term.

14. Publishing the manuscripts in full texts in international indexes may be realized in the long term and depending on the demand to arise.
